5. Guidelines for Identifying Harassment

To help clarify what constitutes Harassment in violation of this Policy, the following guidelines are provided:

A. Harassment includes any conduct which would be "unwelcome" to a person of the recipient's same Protected Classification and which is taken because of the recipient's Protected Classification.

B. It is no defense that the recipient appears to have voluntarily "consented" to the conduct at issue. A recipient may not protest for many legitimate reasons, including the need to avoid being insubordinate or to avoid being ostracized.

C. Simply because no one has complained about a joke, gesture, picture, physical contact, or comment does not mean that the conduct is welcome. Harassment can evolve over time. The fact that no one is complaining now does not preclude anyone from complaining if the conduct is repeated in the future.

D. Even visual, verbal, or physical conduct between two employees who appear to welcome the conduct can constitute harassment of another person who observes the conduct or learns about the conduct later. Conduct can constitute harassment even if it is warranted. Employees should feel free to report valid claims without fear of retaliation of any kind not explicitly or specifically directed at a particular person.

E. 4. Conduct can constitute harassment in violation of this Policy even if the person engaging in the conduct has no intention to harass. Even well-intentioned conduct can violate this Policy if the conduct is directed at, or implicates a Protected Classification, and if a person of the recipient's same Protected Classification would find it offensive (e.g., gifts, over attention, endearing nicknames).
