STORM DRAINS CONNECT STREETS TO CREEKS

It's simple really, but a fact that most of our community is either unaware of or hasn't thought of. The Storm Drains you see in our streets, go directly into our creeks and then flow into the Russian River.

If you take a moment to think that through you'll understand the implications. That small piece of trash that has been sitting in the gutter, the remaining fertilizer lingering in the flower beds, the bacteria and pathogens from forgotten pet waste, with the addition of water all of these

Do you know what happens to water that runs down the street and into your neighborhood's storm drain? It goes directly into our creeks, that flow into the Russian River, ultimately making its way to the Pacific Ocean.
