To Whom It May Concern,

We have a small nonprofit organization, and it takes the aid of the people in our community to make it successful. Hearthstone Village provides a wide range of aid to those in need, and is run purely by volunteers. We have built a clinic from the ground up in rural Mexico, helped cancer patients with extra costs, bought school buses for children to get to better schools, and now completely providing for an orphanage of 27 girls in Haiti. In the past, Amos Flint has been enthusiastic in supporting our fundraisers. We greatly appreciate Amos's help, and look forward to his continued assistance. We are all local people trying to make a global difference.

Dear Jerred:

I wanted to thank you and your staff for your ongoing participation at weSPARK. The workshops you've conducted have been beneficial for our community. For our guests who are using cannabis to mitigate symptoms from cancer and cancer treatment, the instruction you've provided has been invaluable. Other guests have had the chance to learn about the positive impact cannabis can have in alleviating nausea, improving appetite, dealing with anxiety and insomnia and managing pain.

In presentations about the benefits of cannabis and the methods of delivery, Gabriel and staff have been clear and well-organized about a subject they are passionate about and have extensive knowledge. For our guests, this has been important information. The Q & A session has also been helpful as there are so many different variables for cancer patients to contend with.

We are looking forward to our continued relationship and are appreciative of the individualized time and attention your staff has given to our guests. You've become a trusted resource for weSPARK guests.

Best,

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to formally support The Higher Path in their effort to secure cannabis licensure/approval on Piner Road in Santa Rosa. Over the past few years, I've had the opportunity to collaborate with Jerred Kiloh and Amos Flint on a few different projects. I am continually impressed by their industry knowledge and level of professionalism. For myself and many others, The Higher Path is a name that is synonymous with integrity.

I am a member of the community in Sonoma County and am highly involved in the cannabis travel and tourism niche statewide. I currently sit on the Sonoma County Tourism marketing committee and am in the process of launching an educational tour company that shares about Sonoma County's cannabis history and culture, Emerald Country Tours. The Higher Path and Emerald Country Tours plan to strategically partner on the cannabis tourism front in Sonoma County.

I am excited to share with you that The Higher Path intends to create an educational show garden as part of their facility on Piner. This educational show garden we have discussed, will spotlight different cultivars of cannabis, teach visitors about the unique science of different strains, and work to demystify the cannabis plant. As part of the show garden area, we have also discussed incorporating documentary short films and historical collateral that story-tells about the unique cannabis history of northern California, and Sonoma County specifically. I hope to see our plans come to fruition, and am proud to fully support The Higher Path in their efforts.

Kind regards,
