Add Figure 2-3: FAR Map

Pages 2-10 and 2-11:

Add the following new land uses under Mixed Use Sites and Centers:

Core Mixed Use

The Core Mixed Use designation is intended to foster a vital mix of residential, retail, office, governmental, entertainment, cultural, educational, and hotel uses to activate the greater Courthouse Square area and key transit corridors. The principal objectives of the CMU designation are to strengthen the role of this area as a business, governmental, retail, and entertainment hub for the region, and accommodate significant new residential development that will extend the hours of activity and create a built-in market for retail, service, and entertainment uses. High-rise development in all-residential or mixed-use buildings is envisioned in a walkable, bikeable environment with public gathering places such as plazas, courtyards, or parks and easy access to public transit. The Core Mixed Use designation has a maximum FAR range of 3.0-8.0; refer to Figure 2-3 for allowable FAR.

Station Mixed Use

The Station Mixed Use designation is intended to provide for a range of visitor-serving uses, including retail, restaurants, entertainment, cultural amenities, and hotels in proximity to the Downtown SMART station. While commercial uses are emphasized, new multi-family housing will also be allowed to support the daytime and evening vitality of the Downtown Station Area. New development will be required to respect the historic character of the Railroad Square area, adding to the mix of uses and enhancing the walkable, pedestrian-oriented streets and public spaces that attract local residents, SMART train riders, and visitors from the wider region. The Station Mixed Use designation has a maximum FAR range of 3.0-6.0; refer to Figure 2-3 for allowable FAR.

Maker Mixed Use

The Maker Mixed Use designation emphasizes a balanced mix of residential, creative, and maker-oriented uses, including artisan shops, studios, media production, printing and publishing, distilleries and micro-breweries, cannabis, tech start-ups, research and development facilities, limited light industrial uses, and home-based businesses. Multi-family residential units are encouraged in all-residential or mixed-use buildings, as are live/work units. Supportive uses that contribute to a vibrant village atmosphere, such as bodegas, specialty food stores, cafes, coffee shops, performing arts venues, theatres, restaurants, schools, and educational facilities are also permitted. The Maker Mixed Use designation has a maximum FAR range of 3.0-6.0 FAR; refer to Figure 2-3 for allowable FAR.

Neighborhood Mixed Use

The Neighborhood Mixed Use designation allows for new multi-family residential development in all-residential or mixed-use buildings, together with a broad mix of uses that primarily serve local residents, including professional office, retail, entertainment, service, and other neighborhood-scale supporting uses. Housing development will include low- and mid-rise apartments and condominiums, as well as small-lot single-family attached dwellings (e.g., duplexes, triplexes, townhomes). Live-work spaces and maker-oriented uses are permitted subject to performance standards. Street design that integrates "Complete Streets" concepts for accommodating all roadway users and incorporates traffic-calming features will be required with on-street parking where appropriate. The Maker Mixed Use designation has a maximum FAR range of 2.0-6.0; refer to Figure 2-3 for allowable FAR.

Existing Language: "Parking requirements are further reduced within each of Santa Rosa's Station Area Plan boundaries (Downtown Station Area and North Santa Rosa Station Area)."

^{*} If units do not have a private garage or private storage space for bike storage.

Amend language beginning with paragraph two under in the Underutilized or Developed Sites section to read and provide as follows:

"Downtown Station Area Specific Plan Sites. The Downtown Station Area Specific Plan was adopted in October 2020. The intent of the Plan is to provide a lively, modern, regional hub and a prime destination for urban living, inclusive of a range of housing types, business, civic and social life. Approximately 7,000 new residential units are assumed in the Plan area. These new units are not reflected the Housing Appendix tables and will be updated with the General Plan Update in process.

While vacant land represents about three percent of the total Downtown Station Area, there is a significant number of properties which are underutilized. Underutilized properties are those where the value of the land is worth more than the buildings and structures on it, giving the owner an incentive to redevelop with new uses that command higher rents or sale prices. Cityowned parcels also present opportunities, particularly when located adjacent to vacant and underutilized land. Areas where vacant, underutilized, and City-owned properties are clustered present the best opportunities for redevelopment as they are locations that can accommodate significant physical change. Eight "Opportunity Areas" are identified within the Downtown Station Area, which include: Courthouse Square, Juilliard/Santa Rosa Avenue, Roberts Avenue, SMART Station area, North Railroad Square, Maxwell Court, and College Avenue. These Areas permit by-right multifamily housing and have no maximum residential densities."

Existing Language: "Downtown Station Area Specific Plan Sites. The Downtown Station Area Specific Plan was adopted in October 2007. The intent of the plan is to provide transit-supportive development by intensifying uses within walking distance of the Sonoma-Marin Area Rail Transit (SMART) station. Approximately 2,300 new units are assumed.

Within the Station Area Specific Plan boundary, 284 units are anticipated on vacant land and 562 units on underutilized land during the period. Interest has been expressed in development of four of these mostly developed sites, supporting their potential to develop within the Housing Element period. These potential projects also illustrate the City's support of adaptive reuse of buildings, particularly historic buildings, and the recent trend toward development of underutilized or developed sites.

Four additional sites within the Downtown Station Area Specific Plan boundary, near the rail corridor, have been identified. Interest in development was expressed on two of these parcels in 2008. Three are on Sebastopol Road and are generally low-intensity uses including warehousing and auto storage (Sites 29 and 32). The sites identified are adjacent parcels totaling 4.7 acres. They are large enough to be developed independently. The other site (Site 26) is on West Ninth Street and includes 3.22 acres with a tilt-up building, a shed, and storage for large trucks. All these sites are designated Transit Village Medium, which allow densities of 25 to 40 units per acre. The four sites could contain between 198 and 316 units.

All of these sites are underutilized with low-intensity uses. The Sebastopol Road sites' development is generally older warehouses, and on one site, an old mill exists. This building is in disrepair and according to the Santa Rosa Fire Department, should be removed due to safety issues.

Interest has been expressed in developing two of the Station Area sites: 1 Sebastopol Avenue (Site 29) and 5 West Ninth Street (site 26). A concept for a residential project at about 40 units per acre was prepared for the Sebastopol Avenue site. This interest, and the 2010 rezoning of Station Area sites discussed below, makes these sites good candidates for development within the planning period and catalysts for additional residential development.

Other Sites. The Sonoma County Water Agency moved its offices from its former site on West College Avenue and is pursuing redevelopment of the site for workforce housing, including some affordable housing units. This 7.46-acre site (Site 30), designated Medium High Density, could accommodate from 134 to 223 units. The Water Agency intends to redevelop this site within the planning period.

Three small sites, including four single-family dwellings, are included in the analysis since they are adjacent to two larger, mostly vacant parcels (one parcel has three single-family dwellings) designated Medium High Density (Site 8 – five parcels). All five parcels are owned by the same owner and total about 4.86 acres. In spring 2009, City staff met with an affordable housing developer that is anticipating acquiring the site, removing all the existing structures, and developing between 110 and 120 units. The single owner, the size of the site when including all the parcels, its location near shopping and transit, and the City's rezoning of the site make it a good candidate for development in the planning period."

PUBLIC SERVICES AND FACILITIES

Page 6-14: Policy PSF-A-3 should be amended to include the following parkland classification:

• "Civic Spaces or Urban Parks: Generally, a minimum of 25,000 square feet; provide flexible, publicly accessible space for a range of entertainment and activities. These spaces are envisioned on both municipally owned sites and privately owned publicly accessible spaces within the Downtown Station Area."

Page 6-15: The first full paragraph of Policy PSF-A-3 should be amended to read and provide as follows:

It should be noted that the city also encourages the development of public plazas and gathering places. In particular, a network of diverse public spaces in various sizes, which may include: multi-purpose plazas, rooftop green spaces, pocket parks, parklets and curbside parklets, and active or passive paseos are visualized on both municipally owned sites and privately owned publicly accessible spaces in the Downtown Station Area. Whether publicly or privately owned, all public spaces must collectively create an interconnected system that meets the needs of the surrounding neighborhood. While these areas are not part of the city's parkland standard of 3.5 acres of parkland per thousand residents, these spaces connect residents to the wider network of parks, creek trails, and bicycle and pedestrian paths.

Existing Policy: PSF-A-3 Develop a balanced park system throughout the city by incorporating the following parkland classification system into the 3.5 acres per thousand residents of city park land.

- Neighborhood Parks: generally more than two acres but less than ten acres; provide spaces for informal or casual play, family or small group activities such as picnics, community gardens, children's play areas, a special feature such as a splash area, hard court or multiuse field space for fitness, and passive natural areas. The city aims to provide access to neighborhood parks within one-half mile of residential neighborhoods.
- Community Parks: generally 10 to 25 acres; provide spaces for organized sports, larger group events, several unique features, pathways and natural areas, community gardens, and recreational facilities such as community centers. The city aims to provide access to community parks within one mile of residential neighborhoods.
- Citywide Parks: generally larger than 25 acres; include special signature elements such as lakes, sports complexes, amphitheaters, lighted features, recreational facilities and buildings, large play structures, and spaces for large play structures, and spaces for large group activities such as citywide camps or corporate picnics.
- Special Purpose Parks and Facilities: park lands generally designated for single use such as golf courses, heritage museums, botanical gardens, and environmental interpretive experiences.

It should be noted that the city also encourages the development of public plazas and gathering places. While these areas are not part of the city's parkland standard of 3.5 acres of parkland per thousand residents, these spaces connect residents to the wider network of parks, creek trails, and bicycle and pedestrian paths.

Public plazas and gathering places are generally less than two acres in size; they contain vegetation (trees, grass, and greenery) when possible and provide connectivity to pathways, trails, community gardens or commercial centers; they can take the form of a trailhead that is improved as a small plaza, a small area with amenities for relaxation or public art, or areas that are sometimes referred to as "pocket" parks where benches are or a tot lot may be available.

The city encourages the development of these spaces within one-quarter mile of residential neighborhoods.

It should also be noted that open space areas generally used for passive recreation are integrated into many of the city's neighborhood, community, and citywide parks. They contain just a few improvements such as a trail, bench or picnic table, but add to passive recreation opportunities such as walking, bicycling, wildlife viewing, and relaxing. They also contribute to connectivity with regional open spaces such as the Laguna Trail System and Taylor Mountain, resulting in benefits for people and wildlife.

Mitigation shall be sufficient to reduce noise levels below 45 dBA DNL in habitable rooms and 60 dBA DNL in private and shared recreational facilities. Additions to existing housing units are exempt.

- All new projects in the Downtown Station Area where ambient noise conditions exceed 65dBA DNL. Mitigation shall be sufficient to reduce noise levels below 45 dBA DNL in habitable rooms.
- All new projects that could generate noise whose impacts on other existing uses would be greater than those normally acceptable (as specified in the Land Use Compatibility Standards)."

Existing Policy: NS-B-4 Require new projects in the following categories to submit an acoustical study, prepared by a qualified acoustical consultant:

- All new projects proposed for areas with existing noise above 60dBA DNL. Mitigation shall be sufficient to reduce noise levels below 45 dBA DNL in habitable rooms and 60 dBA DNL in private and shared recreational facilities. Additions to existing housing units are exempt.

LAND USE DIAGRAM

Amend the General Plan Land Use Diagram to include the updated boundaries of the Downtown Station Area Specific Plan:
